Iowa Board of Parole
FY 15 Annual Report

Highlights

- The Board of Parole completed 11,371 deliberations in FY15. The deliberations resulted in 3,606 paroles, 1,411 work releases, and the imposition of 462 special sentences pursuant to Iowa Code Chapter 903B.
- The Board of Parole Revocation Module was implemented within the Iowa Corrections Offender Network (ICON) during the second quarter of FY15. This module has streamlined revocation hearing scheduling, the hearing process, revocation order creation, etc., by eliminating redundancies that had existed within the antiquated paper-based system. In addition, implementation of this system will allow for better statistical analysis of parole revocations. Implementation of this system came in a year when the Board of Parole's administrative law judges were required to conduct 2,163 revocation hearings.
- The Board continued to utilize the Iowa Communications Network (ICN) during FY15, saving on travel costs and increasing work efficiency.
- The Board continues to reach out to registered victims. The Board ensures registered victims have the opportunity to provide input into the deliberative process and are notified of decisions made by the Board. At the end of FY15 there were a total of 4,658 victims registered with the Board. There were a total of 2,386 victim notices sent in FY15. In addition, the Board continues to have a toll-free victim telephone number to facilitate communication: 1-866-448-4611.
- Return to prison rate was 31.9% for the FY15 reporting period.

Agency Overview

The Board of Parole was established in 1907 by the 37th General Assembly. The Board is composed of one full-time chairperson, one full-time vice-chairperson, and three per diem members who are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for staggered four-year terms. Board membership must include one layperson, one attorney licensed to practice law in Iowa with knowledge in correctional procedures and issues, and an individual who holds a master's degree in social work or counseling and guidance and who is knowledgeable about correctional procedures and issues. In addition, the Board must be as gender and political party balanced as possible. The Board reports directly to the Governor, and the Chairperson serves at the pleasure of the Governor. The Board has its own support staff¹, but also receives some administrative support from the Iowa Department of Corrections.

The Board's mission is to enhance overall public safety by making evidence-based and informed parole decisions for the successful re-entry of offenders back into the community to become productive and responsible citizens. To achieve this mission, the Board:

- Screens and interviews offenders for parole and work release consideration in accordance with applicable administrative rules and via a deliberative system that respects the interest of the public, victims, and offenders, while being mindful of the finite resources available.

Strategic Plan

In April 2014 the Board completed a strategic planning session where it focused on developing a plan for the future. The Board identified the following areas to focus on in coming fiscal years.

Training and Professional Development

- Participate in annual facility and field location visits to gain an understanding of the role of each location while simultaneously facilitating open and active communication across agencies.
- Continue the practice of including an educational component in each business meeting to learn about and remain up-to-date on current practices, research, data and legislation that affects paroling activities.
- Utilize the collective wisdom and resources of the Association of Paroling Authorities International (APAI), including participation in the APAI Annual Training Conference.
- Research intervention programs utilized by states similar to Iowa and explore if those programs would be beneficial to Iowa's offender population.

Improve Analysis and Data Sophistication

- Research and evaluate revocation activity and recidivism rates with a goal of identifying patterns.
- Evaluate data and continue to develop and modify evidence based policies and practices.
- Continue to develop Board of Parole specific Iowa Corrections Offender Network (ICON) modules.

Stakeholder Outreach

- Continue to strengthen and enhance the Board's partnership with the Iowa Department of Corrections policy makers and Iowa's Community Based Corrections system.
- Begin to develop victim registration and notification module within ICON.
- Explore the feasibility of an electronic based notification system for interested parties.
- Seek opportunities to address stakeholders and provide public education.
- Improve public outreach and education through further development of the Board's website as resources allow.

Population Review Program

- Develop and enhance the Board's methods for identifying cases to review via periodic internal reviews of the prison population to identify appropriate candidates for release.

Iowa Board of Parole FY 15 Annual Report

- Improve public safety by ensuring release candidates are reviewed at the appropriate time and placed on the appropriate level of community based supervision.
- Explore alternatives to traditional revocation.

Parole Risk Assessment Tools

The Board adopted the Iowa Parole Risk Assessment as its primary static risk assessment tool for non-sex offenders, in December of 2012. The risk assessment was specifically created by the Iowa Department of Corrections, at the request of the Board, to replace long-standing and aging risk assessments. The assessment's main use is to aid the Board in measuring the potential for reoffending. Validation data for the Iowa Parole Risk Assessment was included in prior annual reports and can be obtained by contacting the Board of Parole.

The Board has continued to utilize the Iowa Sex Offender Risk Assessment (ISORA) and the Static-99 (a sex offender specific risk assessment).

The Level of Service Inventory Revised (LSI-R) is no longer utilized by the Board for measuring offender risk. A new dynamic risk assessment tool called the Dynamic Risk Assessment for Offender Reentry – Institution (DRAOR – Institution) is currently in development and will be implemented by the Iowa Department of Correction at a future date. Once validated, it will be utilized by the Board of Parole as a dynamic risk assessment tool.

Iowa Corrections Offender Network (ICON)

On August 26, 2013, the Iowa Corrections Offender Network (ICON) Board of Parole case review module was deployed. This deployment changed the way the Board handled information gathering, filing, file review and voting. This module made it possible for the Board and the Iowa Department of Corrections to share information on a real-time basis and has increased Board workflow and efficiency.

FY15 saw continued Board specific module development. In FY15 the Board of Parole completed the ICON revocation module. It was made fully operational in September 2014.

The Board of Parole, in collaboration with the Iowa Department of Corrections, began development of a victim specific ICON module in FY15.

Future ICON development will likely include an Executive Clemency and Commutation module, and a statistical data and reports module.

Iowa Telecommunications Network

On July 14, 1994, the Board began to make use of the new Iowa Communications Network (ICN) to manage the State's prison population more effectively and efficiently. The ICN is a statewide two-way full motion fiber optic communication network that uses modern technology to connect points throughout all of Iowa's ninety-nine counties. This network facilitates a variety of Board functions including parole interviews, registered victim input, commutation interviews, and parole revocation hearings.

Iowa Board of Parole
FY 15 Annual Report

Iowa was the first state in the nation to use its fiber optics system for monthly parole interviews. The benefits (i.e. cost effectiveness, reduced travel time and ease of use) have generated positive reactions from the Board, the public, and other states.

In FY15, the Board conducted 312 remote interviews over the ICN. Utilization of the ICN allowed victims from around the state to interact with the Board without the need to travel to Des Moines. In addition, remote interviews have continued to lead to increased efficiency and have allowed the Board to redirect resources, which historically would have been used for travel, towards the development of new technology – primarily ICON modules.

Workload and Decision Statistics

NOTE: Data reported in this section was gathered using improved collection and analysis methods. Comparing data from prior to FY14 will not yield a consistent comparison. Data collection from prior years often resulted in “double counting” of actions taken by the Board. For example, a decision to interview an offender was counted as both a “review” and “decision” and then counted a second time as a “review” and “decision” when the offender was interviewed. Current data collection methods counts such instances as only one “review” and “decision”.

Release Decisions Summary: In FY15, the Board of Parole denied release to 45% of offenders; granted parole or work release to 50%; and granted release to special sentence upon discharge of a qualifying sex offense for 5% of offenders reviewed.

Workload & Performance Summary: The Board meets approximately 12 days per month for panel screenings. Panels consist of three Board members, one of which is typically the Chair or Vice-Chair. During these panel days the Board conducts case screenings, interviews, appeal reviews, and special reviews. The incorporation of ICON into the daily screening process has allowed the Board to complete a large workload in an efficient and timely manner. A complete breakdown of the Board’s workload for FY15 can be found on the next page.

Recidivism

Recidivism definitions and terms used in this Report were developed by The Association of State Correctional Administrators (ASCA) to establish standard performance measures of importance to corrections. All statistical compilations included herein were provided by the Iowa Department of Corrections.

The parole recidivism rate tracks offenders for three years after their release to parole from prison or work release, and reports the percent of those offenders who returned to prison during the three-year tracking period. Recidivism includes parole revocations as well as new court-ordered commitments to prison for new offenses. Parole recidivism rates have generally fluctuated between 31% and 34% over the past four years.

The recidivism reporting year is the conclusion of the three-year tracking period for a release group. The FY15 reporting year describes recidivism for offenders leaving prison in FY12.

Recidivism steadily declined for release years FY09 (34.3%), through FY11 (31.4%). However, none of these reductions were statistically significant. The rate increased to 34.3% for release year FY12. The below chart reports data based upon the year of release.

Iowa Board of Parole
FY 15 Annual Report

A broader measure of recidivism is the prison return rate. The prison return rate goes beyond the narrow focus of parole and work release and also includes other categories of offenders, such as discharges due to end of sentence. Similar to recidivism, these numbers are derived from a three-year tracking period. For example, the number reported for FY15 are for releases made in FY12.

The return to prison rate declined slightly for release years FY07 (31.8%) through release year FY11 (29.7%). However, none of the decreases during this time period were statistically significant. Consistent with the parole revocation rate, the return rate for release year FY12 increased (31.9%). The below chart reports data based upon the year of release.

Any discussion involving recidivism or return to prison must also examine the number offenders released during the applicable time frame. There was a steady decline in the number of offender releases from FY08 (4,224) through FY10 (3,716). The largest single year increase in recent years was between FY11 (3,917) to FY12 (4,740).

Iowa Board of Parole
FY 15 Annual Report

In the past there was a disparity in recidivism rates between Non-Hispanic/White and Non-Hispanic/Black offenders, but due to reentry efforts by the Iowa Department of Corrections, focused specifically towards Non-Hispanic/Black offenders, recidivism rates for this group substantially declined. The FY13 and FY14 recidivism reporting periods saw a decrease in the return to prison for Non-Hispanic/Black offenders. There was not a statistically significant difference in recidivism rates between Non-Hispanic/White and Non-Hispanic/Black offenders in FY14. During FY15 there was an increase in the return rate for both demographics, as is shown in the chart below. Consistent with the two prior years, no statistically significant difference exists between the two demographics. Please note this chart displays data based upon the reporting year.

When measured by gender, the return to prison rate has fluctuated, though it has generally showed a downward trend since reporting year FY11. The FY15 return to prison rate showed an increase for both males and females. The increase was greater for females. Please note this chart displays data based upon the reporting year.

Iowa Board of Parole
FY 15 Annual Report

Return to prison can also be reviewed in terms of offender age at the time of release. Offenders in age groups 25 to 34 and those aged 35 to 44 make up the majority of releases. There was an increase in the general return to prison rate across all age groups in reporting year FY15, with the exception of the 55 and older group, which showed a small decline. Please note this chart displays data based upon the reporting year.

The recidivism rate can be analyzed by the most serious incarcerating offense. The recidivism rate for property and violent crimes declined from reporting year FY14 to FY15. However, the recidivism rate increased for both public order offenses and drug offense during the same reporting periods. Please note this chart displays data based upon the reporting year.

Iowa Board of Parole
FY 15 Annual Report

The previous charts document recidivism and prison return rates as observed across a wide range of offender characteristics (race, sex, age) and by offense type. The recidivism and return to prison rate may be further defined by the reason for the return to prison: new convictions vs. technical returns (all other reasons).

While analysis is not available for every reporting year, available data shows that return to prison with a new conviction declined steadily from FY12 to FY14. The decline was not statistically significant. The return rate for new convictions increased in FY15 when compared to the most immediate prior reporting year. The rate of return to prison for technical reasons appears to have remained stable.

Parole Revocations

The parole revocation process begins with the receipt of a parole officer's violation report. The alleged violator is subsequently notified to appear before an Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) for a parole revocation hearing. The ALJ determines whether or not the parolee is in violation of the terms of the parole agreement. If the ALJ finds that a parole violation has occurred, one of the following sanctions may be imposed:

- Re-instatement of parole with credit for jail time served
- Re-instatement of parole with additional conditions imposed (including transfer to Intensive Parole Supervision)
- Diversion to an appropriate treatment program
- Revocation of parole and transfer to a work release program
- Revocation of parole and return to prison

Pursuant to Iowa Code Sections 908.10 and 908.10A, the Board's ALJs do not hear cases involving parolees convicted of new felony or aggravated misdemeanors. In these instances the parole is deemed revoked as of the date of the commission of the new offense. Though no hearing is conducted for an automatic revocation, an ALJ is required to process the judgment and sentence on the new conviction and notify the parolee of the revocation.

The Board of Parole Revocation Module was implemented within the Iowa Corrections Offender Network (ICON) during the second quarter of FY15. This module has streamlined revocation hearing scheduling, the hearing process, revocation order creation, etc., eliminating redundancies that had existed within the antiquated paper based system. In addition, implementation of this system will allow for better statistical analysis of parole revocations. Implementation of this system came in a year when the Board of Parole's administrative law judges conducted 2,163 revocation hearings.

Parole Revocation Statistics. A total of 1,562 paroles were revoked in FY15. It must be noted this number also includes sex offenders who are subject to special sentence supervision pursuant to Iowa Code Chapter 903B.

PAROLE REVOCATIONS STATISTICS FY15
Parole Revocation Hearings	2,163
Paroles Revoked	1,261
Automatic Revocations	301
Total Paroles Revoked	1,562

Iowa Board of Parole
FY 15 Annual Report

Short-Term Results: Parole Revocation Rate. The parole revocation rate is the number of parolees revoked during the fiscal year, divided by the total number of offenders supervised on parole during the year (beginning parole population plus parole admissions). The revocation rate has generally fluctuated between approximately 10% and 12% over the past ten years; there was an increase in the revocation rate in FY15.

Victim Services

The Board recognizes the special place that victims occupy as unwilling participants in our criminal justice system. Victims can provide crucial insight into the crimes committed against them by individuals that the Board considers for discretionary release.

Recognizing the status held by victims within our criminal justice system and the unparalleled insight such individuals can provide, the Board established its first program for victim participation in 1986. As part of this program the position of Victim Coordinator was added to the Board's staff. Today, the Victim Coordinator's primary responsibility is to assist victims who want to exercise the following rights established by the Iowa Victim Rights Act, Iowa Code Chapter 915:

- Notify victims of violent crimes, not less than twenty days prior to the Board conducting a hearing at which the offender will be interviewed, and inform the victim that the victim may submit their opinion concerning the release of the offender in writing prior to the hearing or may appear personally or appear by counsel at the hearing to express an opinion concerning the offender's release.
- Notify the victim, whether or not the victim appears at the hearing or expresses an opinion, of the Board's decision regarding release of the offender.

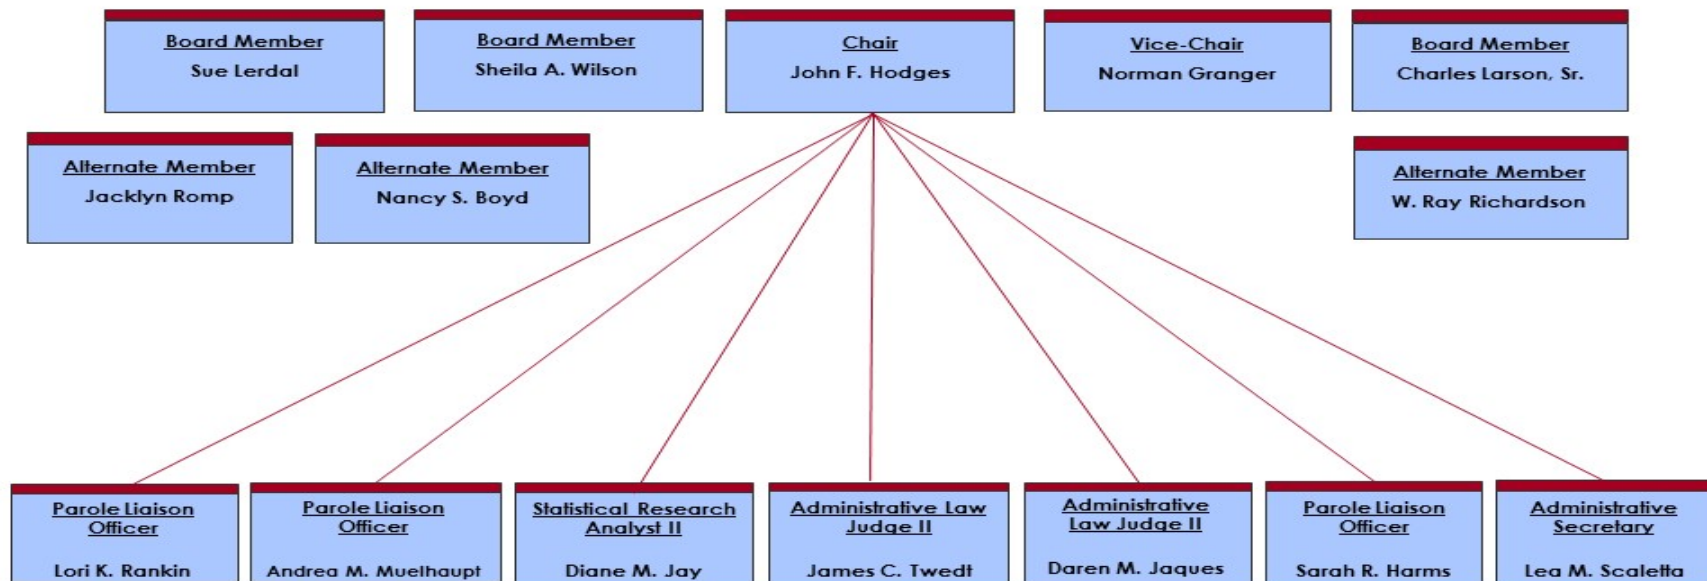

The Board continues to register victims of violent offenses. It is anticipated that the ICON victim module, which was in development through FY15, in development will make this process more efficient when complete.

Data reported in this section was gathered using improved collection and analysis methods. Comparing data collected prior for years prior to FY15, will not yield a consistent comparison. Data collection from prior fiscal years was done via hand counting and did not consistently include the victims of offenders who were being supervised in the community (work release, parole, special sentence parole). The data reported within this report, and in future reports, will include victims of any offender who are currently incarcerated, at a work release facility, on parole supervision, or on special sentence parole supervision pursuant to Iowa Code 903b.

At the end of FY15 a total of 4,658 victims were registered with the Board of Parole. The Board mailed a total of 2,386 victim notifications during FY15. Please see the Workload & Performance Summary on page 9 of this Report.
